

Below are GUIDELINES for accepting coupons and Register Rewards. It is not an official policy made by Walgreens corporate office. If you ever have a question about accepting a coupon please ask your manager.

Walgreen Coupon Practice Guidelines

Important: In each case please contact the Store Manager for additional information and follow through.

Walgreen stores accept a variety of coupons everyday. The coupons fall into two categories:

#1. Walgreens issued coupons

#2. Manufacturer issued coupons

The following are some guidelines for accepting these types of coupons.

We will accept one Walgreen issued coupon and one manufacturer coupon for the same item, unless either coupon prohibits such use.

"Walgreens" Roto Ad coupons, IVC (Instant Value Coupon) coupons, and a manufacturer's coupon can be used towards the purchase of any one item.

Walgreens does not provide cash back if a coupon is presented for more than the purchase value of the item.

When taking a coupon that has a face value that is more than the price of an item, cross out the face value and insert the retail price then manually punch in the coupon for that retail price.

Walgreens does not accept coupons from other retailers or coupons for products not carried in our stores.

All valid coupons must be presented to the cashier at the time of sale.

When purchasing a Buy 1 Get 1 Free (BOGO) sale item, only one coupon can be applied towards the purchase because the customer is only purchasing one item.

Regarding the acceptance of a BOGO coupon on a BOGO sale, the coupon can be accepted with the sale. When using a BOGO coupon on a BOGO sale item, 1 item is being purchased while the 2 are free. The customer will receive a total of 3 items. Only 1 BOGO coupon can be used per BOGO sale item because we limit 1 coupon per offer.

If you sell a product with a retail that is LESS THAN the face value of a coupon the coupon deduction would be

- The same as the retail price if the state requires the customer to pay taxes.
- The product retail PLUS taxes if the state does not require the customer to pay taxes.

If a coupon states "good on any size of the product" and does not specifically exclude trial sizes of this product, the coupon can be used to purchase trial sized products.

One coupon per purchase means that the coupon may be used per item purchased.

Coupons may be used to purchase clearance items, but Walgreens does not provide cash back if the face value of a coupon is greater than the retail.

Internet coupons can be accepted whether they are printed in color or in black and white.

Walgreens does not accept expired coupons.

Example: If the item's retail was $1.49 and the manufacturer's coupon was $.25 off, we would refund $1.24.

As a company we do not price match.

For Instant Value Coupons, stores receive credit from the manufacturer ONLY if the coupon is scanned; credit appears as "scan down" credit on the Purchase Ledger.

Store Managers do have the right to limit quantities on ad merchandise.
